About the Citizens' Environmental Coalition

The Citizens' Environmental Coalition is an alliance of diverse nonprofit, governmental, and educational organizations whose activities impact our environment and quality of life in the Houston-Galveston area. Our 96 member organizations cover a broad spectrum, including professional associations, conservation groups, and activists.

The Citizens' Environmental Coalition was founded in 1970 by an outstanding group of women who were proactive in the environmental causes of the day. They successfully lobbied for many quality of life issues. They saved Buffalo Bayou from being straightened and lined with concrete, they created a nature center at Armand Bayou, and they built safe places to ride bicycles – just to name a few. These visionary women saw that there was a real need for all the local environmental groups to communicate with each other, to coordinate their efforts, and to support each other. They created the CEC to serve that need.

Originally, the Coalition published a joint calendar listing the activities of member groups in order to avoid conflicting events and duplication of programs. Soon the annual Environmental Resource Guide was born, an answering service was established, and community forums were organized.

Thirty-eight years later, communication remains our mission. We work to foster dialogue and collaboration regarding environmental issues, and serve as an information clearinghouse for our member groups and the community at large through the following programs:

Environmental News Update. This free weekly newsletter is e-mailed to more than 8,000 subscribers. It covers environmental news from our 13-county region, and focuses on local environmental topics, legislative news, and updates on our member groups' activities. This e-news also lists Green Jobs and Green Grants, and provides a calendar of special events. In addition, it links readers to national and international news stories that have a bearing on our local community.

CEC Website (www.cechouston.org) This important tool offers a link to each of our member groups' Websites, a comprehensive calendar of all environmental events hosted by our member groups, Green Jobs listings, and archives of our past weekly newsletters. The 2008 Resource Guide is also available on the website.

Information & Referral. CEC serves as a call and email service center to help direct environmental inquiries to the appropriate organizations.

Environmental Resource Guide. This annual publication provides a hard-copy directory of our member organizations and other important contact information. It is widely distributed to our school districts and to the community at large.

Annual Meeting. CEC holds an annual meeting each spring to gather activists to exchange ideas and discuss a timely topic which affects our environmental community.

Synergy Awards. Since 1997, the Citizens' Environmental Coalition has hosted the annual Synergy Awards event to recognize local individuals and organizations for their notable environmental projects and achievements. The winners are chosen from nominations made by the environmental community at large.

Leadership Luncheons. CEC hosts regular, informal gatherings to foster discussion and coordination on specific topics or problems. Our role is to arrange the meetings, invite the appropriate people in, introduce the participants to each other, and then to facilitate their dialogue for the benefit of our environmental community.

Outreach. The CEC staff, board members, and volunteers are available for speaking engagements concerning the general state of the environment in our region and for hosting tables at environmental fairs. The CEC also co-sponsors outreach events with other groups.

If you would like to join CEC as we foster dialogue and collaboration on environmental issues and provide an information clearinghouse for the benefit of our community, please call the CEC at 713-524-4232 for membership information.

CEC is also a member of EarthShare, Texas, which supports the work of participating environmental organizations through payroll deductions. To contribute, see www.earthshare-texas.org

Donations to CEC are accepted directly or via Network for Good on our website www.cechouston.org. CEC welcomes your support!

Programs: You'll want to join HUG at our monthly meetings if you want to:

- eat organic wholesome food with a known history
- feel good because you can share food with hungry people
- restore respect for the earth and the environment
- leave a legacy of better soil and better nutrition
- get a little sunshine and exercise
- share what you know with others
- form a gardening support network or community
- support our local economy by buying supplies from local vendors
- get more production with less time and money

Events: We meet on the second Monday of the month in the Houston Garden Center (1500 Hermann Drive, Houston, 77004) at 6:30 PM, and our FIRST MEETING will be Sept. 14, 2009. Purpose: To aid in the protection of climate, forest, ocean and water ecosystems and to promote the age of ecological sustainability and restoration. Our focus is on key issues that threaten the earth's environment, population and habitat and to bring awareness to the devastating effects which humanity is inflicting on our beautiful planet.

Programs: Education, advocacy and conservation campaigns. We seek an active dialogue with government, business and the public. Where our forests, oceans, seas and lands remain natural, we will work to protect them. Where development exists, we will promote its enhancement and beautification to maximize public access and recreational enjoyment. Where there is a need to save precious resource from ill-conceived projects, we will voice our concerns and call for more responsible management of our natural treasures. We create awareness about rainforest destruction and species extinctions, and create campaigns to save what is left of our precious resources.

US Fish & Wildlife Service

www.fws.gov

Dedicated to the conservation, protection, and enhancement of fish, wildlife and plants, and their habitats. It is the only agency in the federal government whose primary responsibility is management of these important natural resources for the American public. The Service also helps ensure a healthy environment for people through its work benefiting wildlife, and by providing opportunities for Americans to enjoy the outdoors and our shared natural heritage.

USDA Wildlife Damage Management Services

http://www.aphis.usda.gov/wildlife_damage/texas_info.shtml

The mission of Wildlife Services (WS) is to provide Federal leadership in managing problems caused by wildlife. WS recognizes that wildlife is an important public resource greatly valued by the American people. By its very nature, however, wildlife is a highly dynamic and mobile resource that can damage agricultural and industrial resources, pose risks to human health and safety, and affect other natural resources. The WS program carries out the Federal responsibility for helping to solve problems that occur when human activity and wildlife are in conflict with one another.
